It’s a Bird, It’s a Plane… Actually it’s whatever you want it to be…

Talent & Imagination Soar at Looking Upwards Theater Classes

You never know who you’ll find in the theater class through Looking Upwards’ Day Enrichment Program. The magic of performing transforms everyone. When the actors get in role, the cast of characters may include Ray Charles, Forrest Gump and Cher to name a few.

The class takes place on Monday afternoons in Looking Upwards’ Studio 57. Drawing from acting exercises and scenes from favorite movies and plays, participants in the class are developing their talent and exploring projects they would like to pursue.

Local actress Barbara Finelli Morris, actor Jason Heywood and community theater veteran, Jeff Williams teach the class. All are employees of Looking Upwards.

Ron Heup (left) and Jason Heywood improvise a scene from Fantasy Island during Looking Upwards’ theater class.